

Siri Høystad

A freshly graduated designer with an eye for people and with a lot of love for keeping the end user in mind at every choice. Through my education, visual communication, I have acquired a broad knowledge in everything from graphic, digital and strategic design to marketing and coding. In my exchange semester, I have focused on UX research and have had the pleasure of working in an international environment, which left me with a lust for more. I want to expand my understanding of UX and help do my part to create a more accessible society.
